

Senior Product Manager (m/f/d)

Viable is a consultant, agency and developer in one. Viable means realisable: we help companies to develop innovative digital products that make a difference. What drives us: Encounters at eye level. Appreciation and value creation. We learn from and with each other. And work hand in hand. That's why our team is currently looking for two new hands who can lend a hand.

What inspires you

You question things and processes and like to find new solutions. You grow up with visions for digital products that improve the lives of their users and enjoy accompanying product development for customers from start to finish. You enjoy working with different people - for example, as an interface between IT development and business. Or when you develop and moderate cool, innovative workshops.

How you like to work

Early bird or night owl? Thanks to flexible working hours, it doesn't matter. Sometimes you need the peace and quiet of your own home office to think through the entire product cycle. Or you need the view of the sea to spark your creativity. Or the peace of the mountains to be productive. But often the best ideas come to you on the way to the office at the Museumsquartier in Vienna...

The Team

...where you develop digital innovations and MVPs together with your IT development team and experienced entrepreneurs in a start-up atmosphere and an open feedback culture. And support our corporate clients in agile working (for example, by prioritising the backlog together) - so that in the end the best, most innovative and most valuable product comes to market. Boom, baby!

By the way.

Invitations to lunch together in the hip 7th district, fruit and biscuits are of course also available. But that's not why you go to work. It's because you love what you do.

Sounds too cool to be true? It's not. At viable, that's exactly what your job would be! A job that pays you - depending on your qualifications, you know the drill - a gross monthly salary of at least € 4,700. Because your work-life balance is important to us, you will of course get time off for overtime.

We are looking for you if you recognise yourself here. You may not be all that, but the more of it, the better:

- Expert in agile methods and know them all, from Kanban to Scrum to Story Map.
- passionate about the development of new products and/or services - and already have a track record of success.
- Graduate in a technical or economic field of study
- have already worked as a product manager for 3-4 years (or in a comparable position in an agile working environment)
- experienced in developing product visions and product strategies
- have an eye for the details, while not losing sight of the big picture
- like to be creative and work with our UI/UX designers to develop cool user interfaces
- Certified Scrum Product Owner or similar
- decisive - because you weigh up risks and potential gains
- a planning and organisational talent with an eye for detail
- more than fluent in German and English - you feel comfortable with both languages
- ideally experienced with products and processes in the banking and/or insurance sectors

We will find you if...

...you send us your CV and a short letter of motivation to hello@viable.at. And tell us why you are the right person for the job!

We are also happy to receive references, links to projects and anything else you feel is important for your application.
